MEMORANDUM ORDER

After a couple of false starts, pro se prisoner plaintiff Eugene Andrews ("Andrews") has complied properly with this Court's urging that he file a Motion for Attorney Representation ("Motion") that can entitle him to designation of a member of this District Court's trial bar to handle his 42 U.S.C. § 1983 ("Section 1983") action in a way that would obviously be beyond the competence of nonlawyer Andrews.¹ Accordingly this Court grants the Motion (Dkt. No. 13), and it has obtained the name of this member of the trial bar who is designated to represent Andrews.

This Court is contemporaneously issuing its customary initial scheduling order, and in the meantime counsel is ordered (1) to make arrangements for service of process on defendants,

¹ This should not be mistaken as a criticism of Andrews. Federal lawsuits are always difficult for a nonlawyer to handle, and the issues posed by Andrews' Section 1983 claim (a matter on which this Court expresses no substantive views) would render any effort at self-representation difficult for him.

(2) to confer with Andrews and (3) to determine whether the case may proceed on the basis of Andrews' self-prepared Complaint or whether an Amended Complaint should be filed.
